Ethics for Health & Safety Professionals:
Making the Right Choices

February 14 and 16, 2012 8:00-10:00 am Pacific Time

Course Overview

Through lecture and interactive discussion of case studies, we will examine the fundamental causes of our actions and examine the Code of Ethics for both health and safety professionals. particularly in industrial hygiene, safety and health care. At the end of this course, students will be able to: Identify a conflict of interest; understand the difference between what is ethical, moral, and legal; set out the facts in a case/investigation; identify and select among alternative actions; reflect back.

How It Works

Attend from the convenience of your own desk or laptop. Prior to each session, you will receive a website link where you will log in to the session. For sound, you may use a headset or your computer's speakers.

Session 2 is interactive—you will participate in a work group. It is very important for Thursday's session to have a headset for 2-way communication.

Faculty

MARK KATCHEN, MBA, CIH — Managing Principal for The Phylmar Group, Inc. with expertise in industrial hygiene, toxicology, occupational health, risk communication and e-commerce. He is a Certified Industrial Hygienist and a State of California Registered Environmental Assessor. Mr. Katchen is on the faculty of UC Irvine and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas Center for Health Promotion, as well as serving on the CSUN Department of Environmental and Occupational Health Advisory Board.

WENDIE ROBBINS, PhD, RN — Dr. Robbins is Director of the Occupational and Environmental Health Nursing Program at UCLA, a core academic program of the Southern California Education and Research Center.

Who Should Attend

Industrial hygienists, occupational health nurses, occupational medicine physicians, safety engineers and specialists, environmental managers, other environmental and occupational health and safety professionals, union and worker health and safety representatives.
