The UCLA School of Public Health Alumni Hall of Fame was established in 2002 to honor alumni with outstanding career accomplishments in public health, as well as those who have volunteered time and talent in their communities in support of public health activities.

The 2008 inductees, recognized at the Breslow Lecture and Dinner on March 25, exemplify the school's commitment to teaching, research and service.

BETSY FOXMAN

LINDA M. YU BIEN

BETSY FOXMAN, M.S.P.H. '80, PH.D. '83

For the last 21 years, Foxman has been at the University of Michigan, where she serves as professor of epidemiology and director of the Center for Molecular and Clinical Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases, and of the Interdisciplinary Training Program in Infectious Diseases. She is also editor-in-chief of the journal Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Infectious Diseases and a fellow of the Infectious Disease Society of America and of the American College of Epidemiology.

LINDA M. YU BIEN, M.S.P.H. '79

Linda Yu Bien was inducted posthumously after she unexpectedly passed away on February 17 during a family vacation. A woman of extraordinary accomplishments, she was the chief executive officer of North East Medical Services (NEMS), a community health center with several clinics in San Francisco. Her tenure at NEMS lasted for 28 years. Dr. Joseph Wu, medical director at NEMS, accepted the award on behalf of her husband of 25 years, Alan Bien, and their sons Paul and Christopher.
